

Negligible and limited effects

WSDOT has determined that the project would have negligible effects to the study area under the following topics:

- Air quality
- Environmental justice
- Geology and soils
- Hazardous materials

WSDOT determined that the project would have limited effects to the study area under the following topics:

- Cultural resources
- Indirect and cumulative effects
- Energy, including greenhouse gases

WSDOT is coordinating with other state agencies to develop effective, measurable, and balanced emission reduction strategies. Together, these efforts combine to create more efficient driving conditions, offer mode choices, and help move WSDOT toward state greenhouse gas reduction goals.